"LAW OF SERVICE" IS TO RULE IF COOLIDGE IS RE-ELECTED

NEW BURGESS IS IN CHARGE TODAY

J. Bryant Tussing, President of Council, Resigns From Body In Order That He May Accept Portfolio — Appointed By Judge

IS SWORN IN LAST NIGHT

Takes Oath of Office Before T. H. Warrensford, a Notary Public—Successor In Council Will Probably Be Named at Body's Special Meeting Friday Night

J. Bryant Tussing, formerly president of Charleroi council, was yesterday appointed burgess of Charleroi to succeed the late David R. Duvall. Mr. Tussing was formally sworn into office last night by Thomas H. Warrensford, a notary public.

The resignation of Mr. Tussing as a councilman, was accepted by the borough council at a called meeting held Saturday night. It was necessary that Mr Tussing resign from council, of which body he was president, in order that he might accept the burgess portfolio. Mr. Tussing said yesterday that he will give as much of his time as the office of burgess demands, and that it is his purpose to disseminate justice in accordance with the proscribed functions of burgess and with impartiality.

Council will meet Friday evening, at which time it is probable that Mr. Tussing's successor as councilman will be named by the body and it will also elect its president.

There will be at-least two important phases coming before council—that of the White Way system, and that proposition of the improvement of Lincoln Avenue extension. Otto John Schafer, of the Commercial department of the West Penn Power company, will be present, and it is said that decision in the White Way proposition, delayed by the untimely death of Burgess Duvall, will find adjudication at this session—that the body will decide on the kind of light or lights it will use, and enter into a contract with the company.

Mr. Tussing said yesterday that the improvement work to Lincoln Avenue extension will, or may be done, through local means, minus state aid; it can be done more cheaply, in Mr. Tussing's opinion, and fully as well.

FUNERAL OF A SMALL BOY HELD TOMORROW

ODDS OFFERED THAW WILL BE FREED TODAY

Philadelphia, April 22—(United Press—Odds were freely offered today that Harry Thaw will be adjudged a sane man before nightfall.

A verdict favorable to Thaw by the jury hearing his petition for freedom from the asylum that has held him seven years was anticipated

Developments of the past 24 hours within and without the court room led to extreme confidence on Thaw's part.

"I'll be free before toniht," the slayer of Stanford White said jubilantly. He plans to make his peace with New York authorities who want him in connection with the beating of Frederick Gump, Jr., in that city in 11, and then he will be off for Paris and a peaceful Indian summer with his aged mother.

President Coolidge Sounds The Keynote Of His Campaign For The Presidency By Dedicating Himself to Task of Restoring American Ideals

New York, April 22. — (United Press).—President Coolidge today dedicated himself to the task of restoring to America its lost or forgotten ideals.

He made the keynote of his coming campaign for the presidency, and the platform on which his administration is to be built if he is re-elected, the "law of service," both domestically and internationally.

The president, in an address to several hundred newspaper editors attending the [illegible] of the Associated Press, epitomized his platform in these words:

"One of the prominent requirements of our country at the present time is to establish and emphasize in the public mind this law of service. The danger of America is not in the direction of the failure to maintain its economic position, but in the direction of the failure to maintain its ideals."

Around that thought Mr. Coolidge built up a complete program, both domestic and foreign, of legislation and policy, which, he made clear, he would attempt to carry out if he were elected

To Mr. Coolidge this "law of service" is not a sentimental phrase. He said emphatically that it was "not to be confounded with a weak and impractical sentimentalism." And then, to illustrate his meaning, he applied his idea of service to the questions of taxation, governmental economy [illegible] in high places as disclosed by the scandal investigations and to America's foreign relations.

Taking up first the scandals, Mr. Coolidge said them genesis lay in the "easy money" era begotten of the war, and declared it was not surprising that some government officials had been corrupted.

"From all of this sordidness, the affairs of government, of course, suffered" said the president. "In some of it a few public officers were guilty participants. But the wonder is not that this was so much or so many, rather that it has been so little and so few. The encouraging thing at present is the evidence of a well nigh complete return to normal methods of action, and a sane public opinion."

He pledged himself to "administer punishment wherever competent evidence of guilt can be produced."

"That," he said, "I am doing and propose to continue"

Blocs and minorities must not expect his help, the president said, in raiding the public treasury for money to carry out their projects. Declaring that bills before Congress for projects backed by minorities would spell financial [illegible] their $3,600,000,000 total were appropriated, he said:

"The law of service must be applied to this situation. At present our country does not need a greater outlay of expenses but a greater application of constructive economy."

He made in this connection a passing reference to the bonus, but did not reveal his attitude on the [illegible] bonus bill, now in its final stages in Congress.

On taxes the president criticized Congress for its failure "up to the present time accurately to comprehend and expeditiously to minister to the need of taxation reform," but said he believed in spite of this there would be tax reduction. He assailed the opponents of the Mellon plan, who, he said, were assuming the country wanted to evade the law of service and sought the benefits of government without paying for that government.

He said the idea that taxes on the great mass of people could be cut and more taxes extracted from the rich was an unworkable principle.

BODY OF THE ACTRESS TO BE TAKEN TO ITALY

Pittsburgh, April 22. — (United Press).—The mortal remains of Eleanora Duse, famous tragedienne who died here yesterday from influenza, will be taken to Italy, May 1, on the steamship Duillo and buried in a little cemetery at Asolo, near Venice, according to incomplete funeral arrangements made today.

All rites for Mme. Duse will be simple and private, according to Cheviler Telesio Lucci, Italian consul [illegible] who has assumed charge of the remains of the actress in the name of the Rome government.

The last hours of Duse equaled that of Chopin's scene of death, it was learned today from members of her company.

Early Monday the tragedienne complained that the world had forgotten her and there was no one in Pittsburgh to care about her. Then as the end drew near Duse sat up in bed and cried:

"Where are my actors? Bring them to me. We must be rejuvenated. We must be reborn."

Duse made her famous "geste" bringing her hands palm to palm before her bossom, let them fall to her hips, lay back on her pillow and went to sleep. She never awoke.

It was a deathbed wish of Duse that she be buried in Asolo, a quaint little Italian village in the northern section, amid the ruins of her dream castles where her fancy inhabited when she and Gabrielle d' Annunzio, war poet and dictator of Fiume, were younger, and romance entwined the two.

DRY LAW FOLK ARE FINED

Mary Stronski, a widow, with several children, and who was found with some wine in her possession, was allowed to go on parole. She is from Smith township.

Wilson S. Hunter, arrested at Monongahela, where it was alleged he represented he was a deputy sheriff of Bedford county, accosting S. S. Burnsworth, and displaying a revolver, was sentenced to pay the costs, fine of $100 and to serve two months in the workhouse.

Musings of a Heretic.

Careful driving won't do much good unless it is supplemented by careful walking.

Pedestrians seeking a chance to cross traffic can see it just as well from the sidewalk as from the middle of the street.

Pedestrians preferring to be hit by slow-moving cars will cross in front of traffic just as it has been released by the traffic cop's whistle. But those wishing to be killed at high speed will dodge around the rear of a street car.

A hick town is one in which the inhabitants cross the street in the middle of the block. Let us all, ladies and gentlemen, do our best to keep our city in the hick class by cutting across at any point where the danger is greatest.

ELECTION SEES FORCES LINED UP SHARPLY

Harrisburg, April 22. — (United Press).—Primary election today in Pennsylvania saw the political forces of both major parties lined up sharply in three distinct groups.

A belated campaign with many bewildering developments seemed to gain in force on the very day of election. Workers for all partisan groups were ordered out early in a final attempt to poll a heavy vote.

On this issue—one of personalities and principles—the Republican party was split three ways.

1—Those classified under the "Pinchot vote," who obey the governor's plea for liquor law enforcement by supporting him.

2—The "insurgent" Rpublican organization factions who at the last minute erased Pinchot's name from the "agreed" slate and substituted Strossburger. They are represented by Congressman William S. Vare, Philadelphia; Senator Max G. Leslie, Pittsburgh; Max C. Williams, Erie county organization leader, and others of lesser importance.

3—The recognized state organization, apparently pledged to support Pinchot. Senators David A. Reed and George Wharton Pepper, Secretary of Treasury Andrew W. Mellon and State Chairman W. Harry Baker are the outstanding figures.

In a similar manner the Democrats were divided in their contest for delegate at large representation at New York and control of the state committee.

1—The "dry" group represented by the Democratic league, headed by Vance C. McCormick, Harrisburg; John S. Mc[illegible]ren, Furniss; and Roland S[illegible] Philadelphia.

2—The "Labor" bi-partisan faction of which Judge Eugene C. Bonniwell, Philadelphia, is recognized as leader.

3—The "Guffey g[illegible]" Western Pennsylvania, a hel[illegible] the old machine which gained [illegible] atest power when Mayor Gathe[illegible] held office in Pittsburgh. Joseph F. Guffey, Democratic state committeeman, is at [illegible] his political colleagues [illegible] that position.

Aristophanes of Alexandria used punctuation to some extent in 250 B. C. There was no system of punctuation however, until about 1501 A. D. Aldous Manutius, a learned Venetian printer, noted for the beauty of his style, employed it at this time.

Johnny Gill Wins Admiration In His Showing With Walker

Philadelphia, April 21. — Mickey Walker, welterweight champion, was returned a winner over Johnny Gill of York in 10 rounds at the Adelphia Arena tonight, when both judges agreed that the Elizabeth battler was the victor.

Arena tonight, when both judges agreed friends than Walker did in victory. The up-state boy carried the fight to the champion throughout but Mickey blows packed more power.

In the first five rounds Walker was the aggressor but in the remaining sessions Gill scored heavily on the champion's jaw and body with hard rights and lefts and carried the majority of rounds. However, Walker's early lead was too much to overcome and Johnny had to be content with the short end of the verdict.

In the semi-windup Pedro Campo of this city was disqualified in the ninth round of a scheduled ten round bout with Johnny Griffen of Chester, by Referee Lee Grimson for using illegal blows. Up until the time of the disqualification Campo was the aggressor.

Eddie Kane was saved from a further beating when the referee stopped the bout in the sixth round thereby giving Babe Ruth a technical knockout.

Playing Of Sunday Golf Must Cease On Uniontown Links

Uniontown, Pa., April 21—Notified by County Detective A. W. Bell, Jr., that the playing of Sunday golf on the links of the Uniontown Country Club must cease, officials of that club declare that the latter will be taken into court for a decision and that if necessary an injunction may be issued, to restrain the county officials from interfering.

Shortly after preventing the ball game between Collier and the Homestead Grays, County Detective Bell and a corps of officers visited the Uniontown Country Club to stop any golf games that might have been in progress. The club members and officials who were assembled were informed that the playing of golf would no longer be tolerated on Sunday.

"We will stop any games we find in progress on Sunday," declared the county detective.

"Nevertheless we will play golf and dare you can arrest us. We'll make a [illegible] declared one of the high officials.

It was indicated here today that a corps of officers will be stationed at the Uniontown Country Club and at the Pleasant Valley Country Club, the latter near Connellsville, to arrest any persons who persist in playing Sunday golf.

"They are not going to be permitted to play golf on Sunday and then pay fine and costs on Monday," declared District Attorney E. D. Brown. "If they persist in defying the law after we have warned them, there is nothing left for us to do but to take them to jail, regardless of their sex, wealth or prominence in their respective communities."

If the weather is favorable on next Sunday for playing golf, some of the most prominent men and women of Uniontown will be on the links. Arrests on the spot are certain, according to county officials. In case neither side relents, wholesale arrests are anticipated.

District Attorney Brown when informed that court action was to be started, declared that he welcomed it and would abide by the decision of the court.

TUSSING'S APPOINTMENT.

While it would be impossible for any person to fill the office of Burgess that would meet with the 100 per cent approval of all the people of Charleroi or any other community, the appointment of J. B. Tussing, by Judge Brownson, to fill the unexpired term of David R. Duvall, deceased, will be sanctioned by all those residents who have the interests of the borough at heart.

Mr. Tussing will make an excellent burgess. He is endowed by nature with the ability to handle the various problems with which the office of burgess is beset, and he is further qualified by business experience and a thorough knowledge of the municipality's needs, to give the borough an administration that will reflect to not only his own, but to the credit of the borough.

It will not be without a qualm of regret that the people will note his resignation from the borough council, where, as its executive officer, he so well fulfilled the duties imposed upon him. As a member of the body, and since he became its president, Mr. Tussing lent the weight of his business acumen, and his knowledge of the borough and its needs, to the citizens' advantage; but he will bring the same amount of patriotic effort in his duties as burgess as he has in his councilmanic duties, and his reign as the borough's leading functionary promises to reflect to the credit of himself and the borough.

In the enforcement of the provisions of the borough statutes, as outlined in the borough ordinances, Mr. Tussing stands unequivocally for the right and in the proper protection of the people and in the administration of justice. There will be no civic need and improvement but that will find in J. B. Tussing an earnest advocate and loyal supporter.

In assuming the office of burgess, Mr. Tussing realizes the magnitude of the undertaking. It is his desire to so conduct the affairs of the borough that they will reflect with credit upon his administration and meet with the approval of the citizens who wish to see the name of Charleroi upheld. In this respect Mr. Tussing will have the undivided support of all the public-spirited residents. The Mail wishes him a successful term in office and will stand back of him in his endeavors, always with the thought in view of making Charleroi a bigger and better place in which to live.

Skunk is Friend of Farmer, Not Hen-Roost Robber

Next to the muskrat, the skunk is now the most important fur-bearing animal in the United States. In 1850, only 18,255 pelts of this little animal were sent to market. Then the supply began to increase until the record number of 1,921,-000 pelts were gathered in 1914. Occasionally, the average price was as high as $12, but in 1922, the top figure was $3.90. Commercially considered, according to government figures, the skins of skunks mean a total business of about 2,000,000 a year in this country. Experts of the agriculture department declared that the skunk is the most maligned of all dumb creatures; that, in fact, it is the most gentle, the most harmless, and most easily domesticated of all wild things that [illegible] the house of farm folks. Gasoline Has Fuel Rival in Vegetable Extract

As a substitute for gasoline, "natalite," a vegetable extract, first made in South Africa, is said to produce more power to the gallon when used as a motor fuel. Although mostly alcohol, the new fluid contains several other ingredients that give it valuable properties. It is claimed that a fire fed by it can be easily extinguished by water, making it an aid to safety.

Wiring Mantel Candlesticks

The appearance of electrically lighted candlesticks on the mantelshelf of a fire-[illegible] is usually marred by the lamp cord that connects the candlesticks to a nearby socket or receptacle. This cord can be eliminated entirely by wiring the mantelshelf in a slightly different form than usual. This is done by providing a flush receptacle directly under the base of each candlestick and wiring the candlestick as shown in the illustration, providing it with a cap to fit the receptacle. A hole is drilled in the center of the base to receive the cap, which is first wired and pulled up into position by drawing the wires through the candlestick, and the other ends are then connected to the socket terminals.

Not Excited by Blood

The old belief that cattle are excited by the sight or smell of blood has been dealt a severe blow by Prof. G. M. Stratton of the University of California. He has poured pet buckets of blood before bulls, cows and calves without the animals showing more than mild curiosity, says the Detroit News. Cattle showed more interest in the blood of their own kind than that of horses, but in no case was there any pawing of the ground or bellowing.

Doctor Stratton attributes any excitement of cattle when one of the herd is bleeding to the cries of pain and the conduct of the wounded animal.

A year or so ago he demonstrated by a similar series of experiments that red has no particular exciting effect upon bulls.

During the year 1921, the number of telephone conversations in the United States totaled 17,520,000,000 or an average of 48,000,000 a day. In France, where the telephone system is operated by the government, and is much less developed than in this country there were only 662,624,000 connections in 1921, a daily average of but 1,815,409.

MAY FIGURE IN TRIPLE ROYAL WEDDING OF CROWN PRINCES

H. R. H., Prince Leopold, Duke of Brabant and heir to the throne of Belgium, and his only sister, Princess Marie Jose. It has recently become known that this royal brother and sister may figure in a unique triple royal wedding in Rome early next spring, although none of the betrothals have been formally announced yet. Crown Prince Umberto is said to be firmly resolved on making the beautiful Marie Jose, his bride, while Princess Giovanna, who will be 17 next November, is considered as probable choice for the Duke of Brabant. Bucharest's official press appears to take it for granted that a match of Prince Nicolas, younger son of the Rumanian King and Queen, and the superlatively beautiful Princess Mafalda, of Italy, will be formally announced in the very near future.

What Half-Cent Will Buy.

In the Malay market every seller divides his or her wares into portions costing half a cent—in American money. For this sum one can purchase a handful of red peppers, or a handful of rich nut kernels, or a big cucumber, or a gourd for cooking, or two or three large bananas, or five or six small ones, writes Beatrice Grimshaw in the Wide World Magazine. It will also buy a little saucerful of peanuts; a cake of yeast bread as large as a biscuit; a cake of sago bread the size of a sheet of notepaper; a big bunch of "greens," a large slice of raw fish; a little bowl of hot curry; a portion of ready-made curry stuff, intensely hot and spiced; a good saucerful of rice; a dozen peeled chunks of sugar cane; three or four crisp banana fritters; or two large slices of bread-fruit. There is no end, in short, to what this little copper coin can buy. As for fruit, the market teems with it, and with vegetables of the gourd, potato and cabbage family.

Five Important Canals.

Suez canal cuts through the Isthmus of Suez and connects the Mediterranean with the Red sea, and is about 100 miles long. Panama canal cuts through the Isthmus of Panama from Colon on the Caribbean sea to the Bay of Panama on the Pacific ocean, and is about 49 miles long. Manchester Ship canal is about 35.5 miles long, runs from the Mersey at Eastham, just above Liverpool, to Manchester. Kiel canal runs from Holtenau on the Baltic to Brunsbuttel on the Elbe, and is about 60 miles long. Cape Cod canal, excavated across Cape Cod, connecting Buzzard's bay with Barnstable bay at Sandwich, Mass., is eight miles long.

Narrow Minds.

It is difficult for the good Christian to acknowledge the good Pagan; almost impossible for the good orthodox to grasp the hand of the good Unitarian, leaving to their Creator to settle the matters in dispute; and giving your human assent strongly and trustingly to whatever right thing is too evident to be mistaken. Then again, though the heart be large, yet the mind is often of such moderate dimensions as to be exclusively filled up with one idea.—Nathaniel Hawthorne.

Forefather of Submarines.

[illegible] boats, built in 1864, by Messrs. Bushnell-Rice & Halstead of New Jersey, is now one of the relics on exhibition at the Brooklyn navy yard, New York. It had a speed of four knots and was propelled by hand. A crew of 10 men was carried, although it was only 28 feet long and 9 feet high. The cost was $60,000. The first successful submarine vessel was built by David Bushnell in America in 1775.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

California Utopia Has Turned Out a Failure

Dreams of another Utopia were shattered recently when the majority of stockholders of the Santa Barbara Fellowship Colony filed a petition for dissolution of their corporation in the Superior court in Santa Barbara.

The colony was organized June 9, 1921, as a nonprofit corporation to purchase homes and the necessities of life on a co-operative basis.

Socialists and other "fadists," together with a number of more conservative citizens, purchased land with the intent of building a colony "conceding freedom of opinion" with indorsing any "religious, metaphysical or political doctrine," but "to encourage the spirit of good will and mutual [illegible] geles Times.

The petitioners give the following reasons for dissolution:

"The objects for which said corporation was organized have not been fulfilled.

"There appears to be no possibility of accomplishing the ideals and purposes of incorporation.

"It is essential that the debts of the corporation be paid and this is possible only by liquidation of assets."

The colony purchased a large tract of land on Lamesa in the city limits of Santa Barbara and to date not more than ten houses or shacks have been erected.

Moss as Fire Fighter.

The heavy gray moss which grows on trees in the Douglas fir regions of the Northwest, is being used by United States forest service experts to indicate the danger of an outbreak of forest fires. The amount of moisture in this moss promptly changes with the slightest change in the amount of moisture in the air. By placing a quantity of the moss on a balance with a pen arm attached, changes in relative humidity are recorded satisfactorily. By close observations in this way, the approach of such exceptional dryness and possible fire losses can be detected.

World's Biggest Gem.

What is held to be the largest uncut precious stone in the world is a flawless black opal, discovered in this country and now said to be in the office of a government official in Washington. The gem contains approximately 21 cubic inches, weighs 2,572,832 carats and is valued by the owners at $250,000. The colors are translucent blues and greens with a little red. The famous Viennese opal, which was without equal until the American specimen was found, weighs 1,678,927 carats, but has a number of flaws.

The Harvest Moon.

The naval observatory says the rising of the October moon at nearly the same time for several nights is explained in most textbooks of descriptive astronomy under the heading "The Harvest Moon." The phenomenon occurs most strikingly at the time of the full moon nearest to the autumnal equinox, September 22. At that time the moon's orbit makes a very small angle with the horizon, so that its daily orbital motion does not much retard its time of rising on successive nights.

How to Clean Brushed Wool.

Brushed wool can be dry-cleaned, or it can be washed in warm soapsuds made of such soaps as ivory or castile. Wash as you would any other woolen goods, being careful to keep the same temperature in all the waters through which the garments are passed. Dry either in the sun or in a warm place. Do not let the garment freeze. After it is thoroughly dry, brush hard with a wire brush. This will give it the desired fluffy appearance.

Firth of Forth Bridge.

A cantilever bridge erected over the Firth of Forth at Queensberry, Scotland, in 1883-1890, is famous on account of the length of its spans. The two main spans are each 1,710 feet long, and the total length of the bridge is 8,295 feet. The towers are 343 feet in height. The bridge contains 51,000 tons of steel, and the whole cost of construction was about $13,000,000.

Penalties for Profanity.

In several states profanity is variously declared punishable by the statutes. In this connection it is interesting to note an English law which has a sliding scale of penalties for this offense. For each profane oath or curse a laborer, soldier, or sailor may be fined one shilling; other persons under the rank of gentleman, two shillings; a gentleman or any one above that rank, five shillings.

Willie Willis.

Some drug store loafer offered to buy little Willie Willis a cigar the other afternoon, if he would smoke it. After Willie went to bed he told his mother he never again intended to say, "Gee-whilikins" or "Golly Moses."

Origin of Word "Dago."

Dago was a name originally given by sailors to Spaniards, Portuguese and Italians, and is said to be a corruption of the Spanish name Diego, equivalent to the English name of James or Jack.

"Wanted" Men Hard to Find in the Far East

Major Bailey is wanted, the notice on the boarding told me; and instantly my mind flew back to a land where boardings are heavy with notices of wanted men who are never found. Every town in the East has a lengthy list of men who are wanted for crimes. The natives affirm that no true criminal is ever brought to book, but that the police, to justify themselves, from time to time, make an innocent man pay the penalty of another's sin.

The fact is, of course, that the ordinary methods of detection as we know them in the West are useless in the East. Few there can read notices, even though they be printed in the vernaculars of the populace, and so a crier parades the streets with a little drum (followed by a rabble of urchins) to tell them of the latest man who is wanted by the police.

The people come to their doors, and when the crier has passed and the taps of his drum have grown faint they whisper among themselves. The chances are that they all know where the wanted man is hiding, but they are all resolved never to give him up.

Not all rewards in the world will make them tell the crier what they know; for the East is a land where vendettas still prevail and every native is aware that a man possesses power to strike even after he is dead. So, after the crier has passed, the criminal leaves his hiding place and moves on to the next township, toward the frontier where also he is sure of shelter and security.

Across the line he will be one of a hundred brigand bands that rove among the hills from Kashmir to Chinese Turkestan. There every criminal is beyond the arm of the law.—R. J. Minney in the Continental Edition of the London Mail.

Battles and Rains.

There is a reason why rain is more likely to occur after a battle, and that is the movement of troops that precedes a battle must generally be carried on in fair weather, as dry roads are an important factor in such movements. As these preliminaries often take several days the end of a dry spell of average duration is quite likely to be reached by the time the engagement is fairly begun, and rain will then be due in accordance with the normal program of nature. The battle does not cause the rain.

Cause of Gooseflesh.

Gooseflesh is the contraction of the little muscles, called arrector papillae, which are found penetrating the bulbs in the skin at the base of every hair on the human body. These muscles are contracted in response to nervous impulses from the "sympathetic" nervous system. It has always been thought that only exposure to cold or nervous shock could cause gooseflesh, but recent experiments show that if a person plunges the lower half of the body suddenly into pleasantly warm water gooseflesh will appear.

Origin of Word Huzzar.

The word huzzar was first applied to the light cavalry troops raised by Matthias Corvinus in 1458 to fight against the Turks. The word was derived from a Magyar word, "huzz," meaning twenty, the method of selection being every twentieth man in the community. The term huzzar was adopted by a regiment of British cavalry in 1805, and has since then been applied to certain bodies of light cavalry in many countries.

Unique Band Saw.

There is in use an ingenious sort of bandsaw for coarse work, such as felling trees and sawing stove wood. The saw, instead of being a continuous ribbon-like blade, is made up of links, like those of the driving chain of a bicycle. On their outer side they have teeth of extremely hard steel. The endless chain is supported on four ball-bearing sprocket wheels mounted in a light metal frame. A five-horsepower benzine motor drives it.

Dictated but Not Read.

The correspondent of a large business concern had been invited out to dinner. The host asked him to say grace. It was a new experience but he was not wanting: "Dear Lord, we thank Thee for all Thy favors of recent date. Permit us to express our heartfelt gratitude. We trust that we may continue to merit Your confidence and that we shall receive many more blessings from You in the future. Amen."—Store News.

Flower 12 Inches Across.

A flower blooms on a tree of great size and strength growing in the sides of Mount Agua, a high peak near the volcano of Fuego among the mountains of Central America. The blossom measures about 12 inches across. It gets its name from the fact that the Indians believe that the crater of this volcano is the entrance to hell and that the flower is a native of that region. The flower is dark brown in color.

Penny-in-Slot Elevator.

A penny-in-the-slot automatic elevator recently has been invented. Inserting a coin, the passenger enters the car and presses a button displaying the number of the floor he wants. The car automatically stops at that floor.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Steel Buildings Are Electrostatic Shields

New York skyscrapers are the safest places in all the world during thunderstorms, says a man who knows a good deal about lightning. Tall buildings are electrostatic shields, he explains, because the steel used in their construction absorbs the electricity. Comforting word that to city dwellers' but, even so, a problem of transportation must be solved. When the thunder lets go its opening salvo, and the lightning begins to rip, how should the storm-ridden reach the refuge of a big building with the promise of safety in its steel bones?

What a racing and chasing there would be to towering temples of business should the good man's pronouncement have wide acceptance. Folks afoot might lose ground in the middle distances, but on form they should hold the advantage at the finish, as the off-chance of finding a place to park raises the odds against the motorists.

It's all well enough to point out safety in skyscrapers, but the attainment of that security seems rather difficult and doubtful. Whatever became of that fellow Ajax? He is reported to have had a speaking acquaintance with lightning. True, he was rather reckless with his talk, and probably a bad risk, but he did have faith in his immunity to shock. An arresting figure, Ajax—perhaps the very first of the irreconcilables to stand up for splendid insulation.—The Nation's Business.

Slight Jar Will Ruin Your Aneroid Barometer

That seemingly irresistible longing to tap the barometer is responsible for the ruining of something like ninety-five out of every one hundred of the instruments. Many people give their barometer a friendly tap to send it on a bit in the direction of "Fair"—every time they glance at it. This tapping leads to the instrument losing much of its sensitiveness and a great deal of its accuracy.

The aneroid barometer, which is the type most generally in use, is, by its construction, a delicate instrument. In essence it consists of a cylindrical metal box, from which all air has been extracted, fitted with a thin lid of corrugated metal. It is the pressure on this lid, giving it a certain degree of concavity, which is reflected, by a delicate system of levers, by the pointer on the dial read by the observer.

A barometer of the aneroid type tells the truth, by its reflection of changes in the air pressure, to the best of its ability.—London Mail.

World's Garbanzo Center

The state of Sonora is the world's largest producer of "garbanzos," or chick-peas, according to P. L. Bell's "Handbook of the Mexican West Coast and Southern California," just issued by the Department of Commerce. The bulk of the garbanzos are exported to Spain or to the West Indian islands. Garbanzos are grown something like rice, in fields, with raised borders, which are flooded with water, in August and September, when the rains are heavy, but plowing is not done in the water, as with rice; the plowman waits until the water has soaked into the ground, then he plows, and the seedsman plants the garbanzo. Little irrigation is done during the growing season, the moisture retained by the soil being as a rule sufficient to mature the plant. In May the plants are pulled up by hand and laid out on the fields to dry, after which they are carried to a threshing floor, where the pealike contents of the pods are knocked out on the ground, and afterward packed into 220-pound sacks.

All From a Tooth

If you ever go to the Metropolitan museum in New York you will see some specimens of "prehistoric men," men who have lived before we had any history. The question is, how do we know they existed? Nobody has even seen a living man like the ones they have modeled there.

Some of these strange specimens are built up and written about when all we actually have seen or found out about them is one tooth. Imagine building a man and telling his life story from a tooth!

From the tooth, scientists tell what he ate and the size of his jaw and what sort of a head he must have had, and then go on and guess all sorts of interesting things about him until they have built up enough information to model a man who will fit the single tooth they have found.

The Faith of Woman

Scattergood McL. Harris, the eminent Pittsburgh divorce lawyer, was praising the faith and trust of woman.

"A young woman," he said, "said to me the other day with a laugh:

"'Isn't it simply incredible how careless the post-office people are?'

"'Careless?' said I. 'How so?'

"'Why,' she said, 'take, for example, the case of Pete.' Pete was her rich and profligate young husband. 'Here's Pete,' she went on, 'being kept in that nasty, dirty city of Altoona, hard at work in the rolling mills for the past month, and every blessed letter I get from him is postmarked Palm Beach.'"

Mr. Blink—We don't know. My wife and I took the powder between us and we went straight off to sleep.

Japanese Bell 1,191 Years Old.

The largest bell in Japan is suspended in the grounds of the grand Jodo temple of Chion-in, at Kyoto. Visitors are not allowed to sound it. It was cast in 1668. It weighs 74 tons and requires, it is said, 24 men to ring it properly. Next in size ranks the bell of the Daibutsu temple in Kyoto, which visitors are allowed to ring on payment of a small sum. It was cast in 1615 and weighs 63 tons. The wonderful bell of Togaiji, at Nara, although ranking only third, is perhaps the most interesting of all the bells in Japan. It is 13 feet 6 inches in diameter, but its inferiority to the Kyoto bells is not in visible dimensions, so much as in weight and thickness. It was cast in 733 and is therefore 1,191 years old, says the Detroit News. Visitors pay a small sum to sound it once.

Old Newspapers and Books.

Old newspapers and books are used to make cardboard and coarse wrapping paper. It is difficult, however, to produce white paper from waste printed paper. Various attempts have been made to dissolve the oily or resinous portion of the printing inks with solutions of soap, petroleum, caustic sodas and so forth in order to wash away the black pigment afterward. Some time ago there was a process invented for removing the ink pigment by treating the printed paper with boiling solutions of borax. The hope is expressed that this method may act [illegible] of this country and avert a condition that has threatened to cause a crisis in the paper industry.

Gigantic Lumber Rafts.

To compete successfully with the high-priced timber of the Southwest, a resourceful log importer of San Diego has, it is reported, adopted an ingenious method of shipping lumber from Oregon to southern California. Gigantic rafts are made of the logs and they are towed down the Pacific coast behind small steamers. The rafts are cigar-shaped and average 760 feet in length, 30 feet in depth and 70 feet across. Two-thirds of the raft is under water. The chains on a single raft weigh 115 tons and cost $10,000. The first seagoing log boom made its 1,000-mile trip twelve years ago, and since then more than sixty of the huge rafts have followed that course.

Villenage.

Villenage was a system of land tenure introduced into England after the Norman Conquest (1066 A. D.) whereby the occupants of the soil were kept in a condition of servitude and were permitted to hold land only on condition of performing menial service for their lord and superior. Such persons were called villeins (of or pertaining to the villi), whence is derived the common English word villian. Villenage, although never formally abolished in England, ceased to exist in the Sixteenth century.

The Woman Who Loves.

As an old student of life, I should say the most beautiful and helpful thing in it is the respect, confidence and love of an agreeable woman. And I beg you men who enjoy this blessing not to throw it away heedlessly. A woman who loves you is entitled to fair treatment; and many devoted women do not get it. A just master longest retains his power. If there is any one entitled to justice, to gentleness and appreciation, from a man, it is the woman who devotedly loves him. —E. W. Howe's Monthly.

Source of Sun's Heat.

The source of the vast amount of heat which the sun gives off cannot be the result of combustion, for if such were the case it would have been consumed long ago. The Helmholtz theory is generally accepted. It assumes that the sun's bulk is gradually contracting, and that the energy thus produced is turned into heat. It has been calculated that a contraction of 150 feet a year would be enough to account for the heat developed.

Some Animals Can't Swim.

According to the best authorities, all animals, excepting monkeys and perhaps the three-toed sloth, either swim naturally or go through the motions of swimming when suddenly immersed in water. There are, however, several animals that, although they swim naturally, drown as they swim. This is the case with rabbits, mice, moles and the smaller cats, drowning being the result of the fur becoming saturated.

Electric Locomotives Speedy.

A speed of 105 miles an hour has been attained by an electric locomotive in tests before 200 steam and electrical railroad men from all parts of the country at Erie, Pa. An electric locomotive and a big Mikado steam locomotive engaged in a tug of war. The electric proved superior in pulling after giving the steam engine a start at five miles an hour.

One Fighting Rabbit.

Rabbits are not supposed to fight. In fact you will say that you never heard of one that did. But in Brighton, Eng., they had a rabbit that was a hard and vicious fighter. This rabbit not alone fought and whipped crack terriers, known as the fightingest of dogs, but also killed rats for amusement.

Just Kissed Her.

A group of children was playing under the window. Ethel began to cry and ran home. "John," called his mother, "what made Ethel cry?" "Oh," answered John, in a matter-of-fact way, "us boys didn't want her to play with us, so I just kissed her to make her run away."

Deep Soil Is Required for Growing Licorice

Licorice belongs to the pea and bean tribe. In this country the plants flower scarcely once in ten years, and they do not ever appear to bear seed! As long ago as the Sixteenth century licorice was first grown in Pontefract, near Leeds. Pontefract possesses an [illegible] depth of soil, without which it is impossible to grow the plant.

The whole usefulness of the plant lies in the root, which grows to a depth of over six feet. This contains a substance known as glycyrrhizin, and it is this transparent yellow juice which gives licorice its medicinal qualities and its distinctive flavor.

The plants are propagated by sets or stools something in the style of rhubarb, and in Pontefract these sets are guarded with the utmost care. Nowadays there are probably not more than eight or ten growers.

The roots often take five years to mature, and for the first two or three years other vegetables are grown between the rows of licorice.

In its raw form licorice looks rather like a dark kind of glue. It is boiled down in a cauldron with treacle and sugar to give it the desired flavor. Later it is pressed out into a pliable mass and carried to tables, where girls make it up.

After pounding it to the correct degree of pliancy, the workers break off [illegible] kind of string; and then at enormous speed they nip off small pieces and throw them onto a tray in long rows. In Pontefract 500 people are employed in this industry.—London Tit-Bits.

Malays Build Homes on Posts to Foil Tigers

An American who had seen service abroad as a consul tells of some interesting dwellings in the Orient. The ordinary Malay house is built on posts from five to seven feet high, but sometimes safety measures add considerable to the length of the posts, this being particularly true of tiger-infested districts.

As tigers have been known to leap 18 feet from the ground, a lift of 20 feet is considered the safety limit for prospective builders in such sections. At best the Malay house is a frail and flimsy structure of sticks tied together with rattan, thatched with palm leaves and walled with plaited bamboo or tree bark. It is, therefore, an easy matter for a tiger to break into a house. Many tragedies, with a hungry tiger as the villain, have been recorded. In one case a whole family, with the exception of one man, was killed. He climbed to the roof and thus escaped the notice of the tiger, but was the horrified and helpless witness of the cruel slaughter of his relatives.

Canine Intelligence

"You can't overestimate the intelligence of a dog," declared Col. Spotswood Telfair, of Mountain View, gazing reminiscently at his favorite hound engaged in snapping feebly at the pestiferous flies.

"When Towser was in his prime he had an uncanny way of knowing in advance the sort of game I was going to hunt. For instance, if I left the house carrying a rifle Towser would dash for the woods and trail nothing but squirrels. If I started out with a shotgun Towser would trail nothing but rabbits.

"One day I decided to puzzle the old rascal, so I took down my fishing pole and started to the river. It may sound preposterous, gentlemen, but when I got to the edge of the yard I found that darned dog scratching up fishing worms for me!"—Judge.

Scarce Articles

At the club they were talking of germs and germ carriers. One member maintained that kisses carried germs. Another considered paper money the chief offender.

"Your opinions are merely vague guesses," declared a third. "What have the scientists found out on the subject?"

Nobody knew. A college professor drifted in and they called on him.

"We were discussing germ carriers, professor. What do the scientists have to say about kisses and paper money?"

"Kisses and paper money, eh?" echoed the professor. "The average scientist has had little experience with either."

Knew Her Dad

A small child was having her first ride in a subway train. Suddenly the train passed over a switch and the lights went out for a moment.

When they went up again, the little girl said: "Did you do that, daddy?"

Daddy denied it.

"Well," replied his small daughter, "it's just the sort of thing you would do."

His Reputation

"Prisoner," said the magistrate, "you have already been sentenced 11 times for vagrancy, violent assault, embezzlement, theft and so on."

"Would you mind not speaking so loud, your worship?" was the reply. "My intended father-in-law is in court, and you might damage my prospects."

Absent

A negro woman was telling a friend that she had been to a wedding. She described the bride's white satin gown, the veil, the slippers, the flowers, and everything.

"And what did the bridegroom wear?" asked the friend.

"Well, do you know, that good-for-nothing fellow never showed up at all."

THIS BRIGHT BABY GIRL

Brought Joy to Home. Mrs. Price's Health Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Scootac, Pa.—"I never felt like working, and when I would try to do any work standing on my feet, I would just drag around all day long. At times I would have terrible pains and would be in bed three or four days. I was in this condition about a year when I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the papers. I had heard different women say it was good for women's troubles, and my aunt thought it would help me as it had helped her. So I took the Vegetable Compound and it brought things right, and I was in good shape before I became a mother again. I believe it helps at birth, too, as with both my other babies I suffered a great deal more than with this one. I thank you a thousand times for the good your medicine has done me. It has surely made our home a happy one."—Mrs. ROBERT PRICE, Scootac, via Lockhaven, Pa.

In a recent country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, 98 out of every 100 report they were benefited by its use.

Burns Healed Without Leaving A Scar

My sister was burned last winter when putting coal oil on a deadened fire and the flames burst out into her face. We used nothing but San Cura and didn't even have a physician and in almost an incredible short time her face was perfectly healed without a scar. It is the finest thing for burns that I have ever seen. Have also used it for other things. Just lately an infected toe and immediately it was healed.—Hattie S. Pitts, 18 Iowa Circle, Washington, D. C. Try San Cura Ointment for Old Sores, Piles, Eczema, Cuts, Bruises and Chapped Skin. It gives quick relief, soothes the pain and draws out poison, or money back. 30c and 60c. Try San Cura Soap for banishing Blackheads, Pimples and clearing the complexion. 25c, at Hennings Drug Store.

In Society's Realm

Wednesday evening in the Turner hall, with the Harlem Harmony Boys officiating, the W. B. A. of the Maccabees will hold their annual Easter dance. The various committees have been working arduously to make this the most successful social affair of the organization and from all present indications they will not be disappointed. An evening of enjoyment is anticipated.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Isabella of Crest avenue entertained at their home recently in honor of the birthday anniversary of their daughter, Wilmina. A large number of friends of the honor guest were present and spent a very delightful evening in games and music. At a late hour a delicious luncheon was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. William Allcopp and Mrs. Matthew Giordanango. Miss Isabelle received many beautiful and useful gifts.

Miss Eleanor M. Mogan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Mogan of Fallowfield avenue, bride-elect, was the honor guest at a dinner dance last evening held at the home of Mrs. J. Winston Johns of Pittsburgh. Miss Mogan was accompanied to the Johns' home by Misses Mary, Margaret and Agnes Levington, Miss Mary Swords of Nashville, Tennessee, Felix Myrel Wilson, groom elect, of Nashville, Edward Weymouth Murrell of Lynchburg, W. Va., Max Peeples of Nashville and Chris Mogan of this place.

A sacred and Easter musical and literary program was carried out by the members of the Monday Musical club last evening at the regular bimonthly meeting held in the Municipal building. There was an unusually large attendance and the program was very interesting. The program was as follows: "I Heard the Voice of Jesus, by Mrs. Mary Nickolson; "Open the Gates of the Temple," by Miss Adah McCague; Easter solo by Miss Edith Woodhall; reading, by Miss Grace Anderson and Easter solo by Miss Lul Buffie.

At the home of Mrs. Mary V. Kinder of 608 Fallowfild avenue last evening a very good time was spent by Miss Florence Schafer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Schafer of McKean avenue, and her friends, who accorded her a birthday surprise party in celebration of her 15th birthday anniversary. Miss Eleanor Kinder and Miss Goldie Lay were hostesses and led in the program of games, dancing and music. There were approximately 20 guests present. Miss Schafer was presented with many beautiful gifts, chief among which was a beautiful diamond ring presented to her at the Kinder home, a gift from her mother and father. The dainty luncheon served by the hostesses was much enjoyed.

A beautiful wedding was solemnized this morning at 9 o'clock in St. Jerome's Catholic church, with the pastor, Rev. William D. Fries, officiating, when Miss Winifred Camille Guiler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Guiler of Fallowfield avenue became the bride of John Feehan, son of Mrs. Mary Feehan of North Charleroi. Ferns and palms banked the altar, which was beautifully decorated with white carnations. The bride was beautifully attired in a gown of oyster white georgette with picture hat to match and she carried a bouquet of white roses. She was attended by her sister, Mary, who appeared in pink georgette with hat to match and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Arthur Feehan, brother of the groom served as best man. The wedding procession included the little Misses Margaret Lee and Kathleen Oates, as flower girls who were attired in white voile trimmed with rosettes of pink ribbon and they carried baskets of pink and white sweet peas. James Keohane and Harold McDonald of of Monessen served as ushers. The bridal party entered the church to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march with Mrs. Bertha Kleist at the organ. During the ceremony, Mrs. George Clark sang, 'O Promise Me" and Ave Marie," with sacred music by the choir of St. Jerome's church. Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's parents where a wedding breakfast was served, covers being laid for 30. Following a reception this evening, the bride and groom will leave for a short trip to Washington, D. C., after they will be at home in their newly furnished home in North Charleroi. Mr. and Mrs. Feehan are both very well known in Charleroi.

Mrs. H. A Earhart, who has been visiting with her brother, Charles R. Trew, of Shady avenue for the past two weeks, called here on account of his illness, returned to her home in Linden, N. J., yesterday. Mr. Trew is very much improved.

Mrs Catherine Dwyer, who has been confined to her home in Fallowfield avenue with an attack of grip for the past week, is rapidly recovering. Her many friends will be pleased to learn of her recovery and know that she will be able to be around in a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. James Lee, and daughters, Mrs. Mary Jones, all of Canonsburg, and Mrs. Delaney and daughters of Castle Shannon, are guests at the homes of Mrs Mary Feehan and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lee of North Charleroi. They came here to attend the nuptials of Miss Winifred Guiler and John Feehan, which took place this morning.

History in Words.

The study of words—words which endure longer than temples hewn out of solid rock—teaches us to know the likeness of the human heart in all countries and in all ages—to recognize the superiority in many respects of nations long deemed barbaric—and to understand duly the existence of that wondrous law of intellectual development which adapts faith to purposes and hopes to necessities, and tempers the sense of beauty according to human powers of acquisition.—Lafcadio Hearn.

Wild Indians of Mexico.

There are 14 distinct tribes of wild Indians in the state of Chiapas, Mexico down near the Guatemalan border. Each tribe has its own language, and they mix as little as possible with the whites. The curious assertion has been made that these savage Indians are able to communicate telepathically across hundreds of miles of space by a sort of wireless, the secrets of which are carefully guarded from all outsiders.

Walpurgis Night.

The eve of May 1, the day of the canonization of St. Walpurga, who came from England to Germany, was made abbess of Haidenheim, and died about 779 A. D., is known as Walpurgis night. On this night the witches are said to hold high revelry with their master, the Devil, on the summit of the Brocken, in the Harz mountains, riding thither on broomsticks and he-goats.

Bay of Fundy Tides.

The proposal has been made by a Canadian engineer to turn the tides of the Bay of Fundy to use. His plan is to build a system of dams at the mouths of the Petticodiac and Merramcook rivers, to connect these dams by a wing dam to the point of land between and thus to generate continuously from 60,000 to 200,000 horsepower. The tides in the Bay of Fundy are frequently as high as 45 feet.

Horses Appreciate Smudge Fire.

Pack horses used in the Canadian survey party which mapped the land north of Athabasca Landing, Alberta, did not need to be taught what a smudge fire was for. The moment it was started [illegible] smoke to escape the tormenting flies. This made is easy to round them up for the next day's journey.

American Flag Flies Day and Night.

So far as is known the only place where the American flag flies all night as well as the day, is at the grave of Francis Scott Key, who is buried in Frederick, Maryland. There is a portrait statue of Key in the cemetery. He stands with his hands upraised, pointing to the Stars and Stripes.

Used Everywhere in Beautiful Homes

Use window shades to tone the light

YOU know how harsh and uninviting a room is when lighted directly by a frosted bulb from the ceiling. An atmosphere of harmony and restfulness is magically produced in this same room by simply substituting a number of softly shaded lamps in place of the glaring electric bulb.

In this same way window shades, if properly selected, soften and tone the sunlight, spreading a lovely mellowness over the room.

We carry a variety of beautiful tone-colors in Columbia

GUARANTEED
and ROLLERS

These colors tone the light, throwing a glamour over the furnishings and weaving everything in the room into a pleasing symphony of color. Ask to see some of them the next time you come in.

MAN POSES AS AN OFFICER

Stephen Marovich of Elizabeth, while enroute to Monongahela from Elrama Friday evening, was stopped by a man dressed in civilian clothes who demanded Marovich to show his owner's and driver's licenses. The man said he was a state police and exhibited a badge but would not permit Marovich to examine the emblem which was pinned to his coat under his topcoat. Marovich handed the man his owner's license and the man after reading the card told Marovich he would keep it for further investigation. The man told Marovich to drive on and refused to return the card. Marovich, knowing he was liable to arrest for driving returned to his home.

He went to Monongahela and reported the matter to Chief of Police S. S. Barnsworth, who is investigating. Marovich gave a good description of the man to the police and explained the man's refusal to permit Marovich to examine his badge.
